

From: don roh
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 12/7/01 6:13am
Subject: ridiculous

Its sad that the government is so easily fooled by this business giant. Giving Microsoft to underprivledged kids is a gift, not a penalty. Apple has been doing it for years as a marketing strategy. How about giving free open source software which actually teaches kids about computers and forcing Microsoft to pay actual monies to the people they have put out of business. Or at least pay monies, not software, to the education system. In five years Microsoft will be bankrupting the schools IT department when its free licesing expires!!

Don Roh

systems engineer
Rohs Inc.